Press Release

Grow Safe Partners With KU for Occupational Health, Safety

Grow Safe – a leading Health, Safety, and Environment (HSE) organization has entered into a MoU with the Department of Education, University of Karachi to organize training and awareness programs related to occupational health and safety.

GSPL also donated laptops to the department to support a library digitization initiative aimed at enhancing academic and research capabilities. The initiative is expected to significantly improve access to academic resources and modernize the library systems.

The agreement was signed between Mr. Muzzamil Safdar, Head of GSPL Academy, and Dr. Aziz-un-Nisa, Chairperson of the Department of Education, in the presence of senior academic and corporate representatives.

Speaking on the occasion, both sides highlighted the importance of public-private collaboration in advancing educational outcomes and fostering innovation in higher education.

CEO Grow Safe Mr. Saad Abdul Wahab emphasized the importance of workplace safety, and requested the chairperson of the department to consider incorporating occupational health and safety modules into various degree and training programs.

Others present on the occasion included Dr. Maroof Bin Rauf, Student Advisor, Dr. Naila Siddiqa, Assistant Professor, and Mr. Hamdan Siddiqui, Director HR, Sales & Marketing at GSPL.

The partnership reflects Grow Safe's continued commitment to CSR [corporate social responsibility], with a focus on capacity building, digitization, and support for the education sector in Pakistan.
